More about 'Rain, Rain, Go Away'

Rain, Rain, Go Away is a classic nursery rhyme, which shows the playful nature of children who are not interested in indoor games in case of rains. The rhyme is short, simple and iambic, which makes it ideal to toddlers and preschoolers. It captures that universal childhood feeling of wanting to go outside to play and this is something children everywhere will like. Centuries have gone by using this rhyme, which is found in various forms across various cultures. The repetitions are made to help the children develop early language skills, memory and rhythm. It is most often sang by the parents during a rainy day as a pleasant game of keeping the children entertained at home. Besides using the catchy melody, it can also be sung with the rhyme to provide an explanation of weather patterns, seasons, and the reason rain is important to the nature, plants and animals. Rain, Rain, Go Away in this sense is not only a frolicsome song--a lesson on how songs may serve to fill the gap between the mundane and the educational.
